

FRANS D. OERDER (1867 - 1944)

Born in Rotterdam, emigrated to South Africa in 1890. Occupied a studio in Pretoria. At the outbreak of the South African War, he joined the Boer forces under Commandant Nico Hofmeyer, and his sketches of Boer types and Boer activities in the field should be counted amongst our most precious Africana. His precise perceptive ability and great talent for drawing are clearly expressed in these sketches. He was the only war time artist on the side of the Boers.

During this time he also made etchings of Boer residences and landscapes. These post-war landscapes of the Transvaal belong to Oerder's most important work.

In 1908 Oerder returned to Holland. He exhibited at Rotterdam and visited Italy and Zanzibar. He executed large panels for the Utrecht and Amsterdam Museums, and on his return painted a great number of prominent figures, including General Botha, General Smuts and Dr. van der Bijl.

He returned to South Africa with Gerda Oerder in 1938, and died at the age of 77 in 1944.

Oerder always strove towards purity and colour, line and composition. The perfect restfulness and richness in atmosphere of his paintings are gripping. His art possesses an intrinsic value and is of more than historical significance.
